SHUTTLE

SHAW HIGH SCHOOL
EAST CLEVELAND
VOLUME 51
The Seniors graduate while the Juniors study and the Sophomores start at the bottom.
Shaw is full of many sounds; books closing, doors opening, bells ringing, and desks banging, but most of all . . . footsteps; firm, quick, footsteps that might, rather than a staff, or a building, or a location, be called Shaw High School.

And it is for those shoes this Shuttle is written. It can show only a small part of the time, effort, and study that must be put forth to make up a school and its spirit; but this book tries in a small way to show what those shoes accomplished in 1953 and 1954.

You will find on the pages, pictures of sophomores, juniors, and seniors; faculty, and administration. And no matter which of these groups you belong to, this yearbook is your book.

BECAUSE he has instituted the hour-long period, which extends study time and makes recitation more meaningful; and, more recently, the reading room, which gives opportunities to the students whose interests extend beyond the facts presented in the classroom; because in many other ways he has adapted modern theories of education to the particular needs of Shaw High;

BECAUSE he has taken an active part in the larger life of the community;

BECAUSE in addition to all these we know him as a friend; we dedicate the 1954 Shuttle to . . .

the shoes

on the page you just turned are the shoes of the class of January 1954. They belong to the kids who said they “goofed!” and warned dawdlers in the lunch line, “One of these days, friend . . . pow!”

These are the seniors who were like so many years of seniors before them, excited about future plans and hardly able to wait for prom night; yet different from other senior classes too because their individual members were so very different. Each one found he had something special and all his own to remember about his days at Shaw. And each one of them found he shared with his classmates some of the same memories.

And now Shaw itself has become for them a treasured memory. But besides that it also has become an important stepping stone for whatever may lie ahead.

And when, on January 29, 1954, they walked across the stage at Kirk it was found they had gained something more than just their diplomas—they also had earned the wonderful right to call Shaw High School “our Alma Mater.”

which you will find on the next few pages are the members of the class of June 1954. These are the seniors who "just wanted to get the facts" (plus a little bit more). They never seemed to tire of humming "You, You, You," they watched Shaw win eight straight basketball games, and were thrilled when they saw "From Here to Eternity."

Now sadly, yet proudly, they bequeath to coming years of Shawites the fountains that delight in imitating Old Faithful, the much-looked-forward-to "front seats" in the auditorium, those eternal last two minutes before the 3:15 bell, the shoving in the halls, and the dreams of installing escalators.

And we believe, as it has always been in the past, that in later years Shaw will be proud of these seniors and of what they do and accomplish. Some may be presidents, some principal men and women in industry, and some leaders of many faiths. But whatever they do, as they find their way through life as useful and intelligent citizens, in them this phrase will ring true... "Shaw has won her fame."

just shoes for fun? Of course not.

Perhaps shoes in activities like these could be called some of the busiest shoes at Shaw during 1953 and 1954. These were the shoes that stayed late after school, that many times found themselves headed toward rooms like 17, 22, 210, or 9.

These were the shoes that planned dances, put out a school paper, "the best things come in small sizes," and prepared for college. They did art work for the Shuttle and had fun skating. These were the ones that presented plays, worked on service projects, and discussed current problems.

These were the ambitious shoes. They were filled by people who liked to work and wanted to help others, by people who could lead well and who could follow well, and by people who did a little more than "just go to school." These were active, hard working shoes.

If you aren't convinced, look at the next pages.

Who sparks the team with frenzied cheering at Shaw athletic contests? It's the newly organized Pep Club and its energetic sponsor, Miss Norma Jean Smith.

The purpose of the Pep Club is threefold: to promote Shaw spirit in athletic activities, to promote better sportsmanship through an organized cheering group, and to establish a more active cheering section among the students.

The Pep Club meets twice a month. Two hundred fifty students have paid the membership fee, which is used for various equipment, such as the red and black cards with which the members flash a large "S" at football and basketball games.

"The purposes of the new Shaw Driver Education Course," instructor Mr. George Todd says, "are to teach high school youth the responsibilities involved in the operation of a motor vehicle, to reduce traffic accidents, and to prepare youth to support sound traffic programs as drivers of tomorrow."

Three mornings a week are spent by the class in the classroom and two periods a week driving in the dual-control automobile.

Although one group was confused by Belvoir Boulevard and returned late to the next period class, the course has proved to be very successful.

Mr. Todd instructs the driving class on the principles of the gasoline engine.
At the last meeting of the Student Council... This expression is heard in most homerooms on Wednesdays when Student Council representatives give their reports.

The Student Council takes charge of the announcements of days, times, and places over the broadcasting system. It also returns lost scarves and mittens to the owners, and keeps us on the straight and narrow in the halls.

This year it has provided the opportunity to sixty students to take dancing lessons, sponsored the war orphan, supervised the football queen elections, organized pep rallies, and organized a successful All-School Party.
STUDENT COUNCIL

The Junior-Sophomore Friendship Club, formed because of over-large membership in the former Friendship Club, welcomes the incoming Sophomore girls to Shaw and provides a means for them to get acquainted and to serve the community through the school. Among their activities this year were a Hallowe’en and a Christmas Party, and the annual Mother-Daughter Pot Luck supper.

A repeat service project this year was the collection of pocket sized books for servicemen.

At a special meeting for both Senior and Sophomore Friendship Clubs, a program from the Ride Tilton Modeling Studios was presented, featuring the latest fashions and hints on grooming.
The Senior Friendship Club had a busy year full of activities and service projects, beginning with a joint Senior-Sophomore Hallowe’en party followed by a Christmas Party in December and a masquerade party soon after school reopened in January. The grande finale of each semester is always the Senior Pot Luck, at which the seniors bow out and the elections of next semester’s officers are held.

This year’s service projects included making tray covers, filling a basket of food for a needy family at Christmastime, and sending clothes to our school orphan in Italy.

A smaller part of Friendship is the Choir, which sang both for parties and for their own enjoyment.

What's in a Shutele? "Pictures of me!" is the reply of most students, but any member of the staff would answer that there are 1,272 photos in this yearbook. What's more, approximately 865 hours went into the production, which amounts to twenty-two forty-hour weeks, or five and a half months.

But a staffer doesn't mind the work that goes with being a member of this organization, for a lot of fun accompanies it. He has fond memories of the occasions he stayed after school until 9:30, the time he got rubber cement in his hair, and the time he borrowed some typing paper from the Board of Education office at 8:30 P.M.

It doesn't bother the staff members to think that if they had been paid $1.25 for each of their 865 hours, they would have earned $1,081.35. It is reward enough to see the completed book.

"Choose your college on the basis of cost, location, rating, and courses offered," was the advice given to College Club members by one of their many speakers.

This group, organized to help students who wish to attend college, meets once a month on Mondays. The members have visited campuses of colleges such as Oberlin and Bowling Green under the sponsorship of the club.

Students in the group have received valuable information about scholarships, college board tests, and campus jobs. They have also learned what to take to college and what to expect upon arrival.

To the musically-minded octet, half-steps and whole-steps lead to beautiful music. Organized to entertain groups too small to accommodate the big choir, our octet, with two new faces this year, has become a well-known Shaw music group.

Every Thursday night before Observer publication, footsteps lead to room 9 where the energetic staff of 15 "burns the midnight oil"—or at least the eight o'clock oil—getting out the paper. The Observer which tiptoes into your homerooms so quietly and easily is the result of this late effort on the part of the staff. Under the capable supervision of Mr. Hubert McNeill, our young journalists live up to their motto, "The best things come in small packages."
If many students have difficulty concentrating on studies at the south end of the new building during seventh period, it can be attributed to the rousing music of the Shaw High Band.

The seventy-five members of the band began practicing for marching season before school reopened in September under the supervision of the band director, Mr. S. Robert Fraser, who originates the formations.

The show always goes on—even in mud and rain. During pep rallies and between halves of football games the band plays march music. Besides their annual "Midwinter Pop," and Spring Concerts, Shaw's fine band organization took part in the Ohio Sesquicentennial, the Memorial Day and the Ohio Celebrity Parades and the dedication of the new Hayden C.T.S. garage.

The eighty-five voice choir provided a year of enjoyment for the school and the community. They sang for the Armistice Day program, Christmas program, the Spring Concert, and the commencements of both graduating classes. During the Christmas season they gave concerts at the East Cleveland Public Library, Halle’s, and at Public Square. For the second time they broadcast a full half hour program over station WJW.

This year the thirty-eight piece Shaw Orchestra was host to the orchestras participating in the Lake Erie League Orchestra Festival. The orchestras of Euclid, Heights, Lakewood, Parma, and Shaker attended. This group also played for Armistice Day, the Christmas program, the Spring Concert, and the commencements and class nights.

Small, select groups from the orchestra and the choir were combined this year in the new Fred Waring Group. This composite organization, which appeared for the East Cleveland Rotary Club and for the district reception of the Heights Eastern Star, was featured in the finale of the East Cleveland Kiwanis Show.

Leading the Shaw High Band with their snappy stepping and high kicks, the six drum majorettes and the drum major thrilled the crowds at football games, parades, and rallies.

The majorettes work out their own routines for football shows except in the case of special exhibitions, which this year included a golf game to honor "Ike" and a firecracker in which the majorettes formed the fuse.

"Sue's the one for us" was the resulting opinion of all Shawites as they crowned friendly, vivacious Sue Widlitz their 1953 Football Queen after one of the most breath-taking campaigns of the season. Backing up Sue at the Shaw-Heights game were her attendants, Donna Felger and Lola Zuchegna.

After the game the royal party reigned victorious as they were enthroned amid streamers and confetti at the first canteen dance in the new gym.

The only time most Shaw students see the hard-working stage crew is when they applaud the boy who brings a microphone out or pushes a piano offstage. ATHLETICS were some of the most energetic and lively at Shaw during the two semesters.

These were the shoes that grimly dug in on a football field while a voice counted, "ready, set, 1—2—3—4 . . . ," that carried back the player who caught that long fly to deep center, that pounded fast and hard on a long track.

These were persistent shoes too. They spent long hours practicing; trying to perfect each play. They learned how to work in harmony with others and to follow rules and regulations.

They got kidded sometimes for being large and sticking out from under a desk, but they always were shoes to be proud of. They were shoes that were known as good sports both on and off the field; they were cheered through many seasons in different sports as being determined athletes, and we believe that that applause will take a long time to die out.

This year's hotly contested Lake Erie League race came to a thrilling climax in the last two weeks of competition as Heights, Lakewood, and Shaw battled it out for League honors.

The League-leading Heights squad forfeited all their victories when they were disqualified because of an ineligible player.

Shaw, trailing Lakewood by two points, saw a possibility of attaining a co-championship with its L.E.L. rival. But hopes were smashed when the Cards lost to Lakewood, 14 to 6.

"This year's squad," says Coach Robert Cawrse, "was one of the finest I've ever seen at Shaw, and the team certainly came closer to winning the title than any other in recent years."

Injuries—which seemed to trail Shaw this year—were the greatest handicap this season as Derry Clay, a key man last year, pulled a knee ligament in the training season and was out for the entire year. Bill Whitacre, first string quarterback, was absent two weeks with a knee injury. Jack Hanson's dislocated shoulder and Jay Hunton's injured leg kept them out of commission for several games.

And so, the 1953 football season will be remembered by Shawites as the year that Shaw almost tied for the Lake Erie League championship.
The J. V. football squad had a successful '53 season, although they finished only third in the Lake Erie League. The team dropped three games while winning two, one from Euclid and another from Parma.

"We had a willing group of boys," stated Coach Worcester, "and had it not been for injuries we would no doubt have finished higher in the win-lost column. However, the boys, Mr. Caroff, and I are looking forward to next year."

j-v football

Harold, Jim, and Bill perfect their aim.
The varsity basketball team pulled one of the surprises of the Lake Erie League Season by running in front until the last day of the first semester. The speed and know how of the Shaw Squad was enough to beat every opponent until Shaker stopped a nine game streak. The loss of four important boys at mid-year threatens to make more of a race for league honors in the last half of the season.

The seven smiling seniors just to the right and the similar picture at the top of the next page are the intramural basketball teams of homerooms 217 and 30 respectively. These two teams dominated play in the senior division right down to the wire.
swimming

DERRY CLAY—an athletic Jack-of-all-trades, Derry's competitive spirit inspired many a team member in baseball, basketball and football.

JERRY CARLETON—a great playmaker and steadying influence, Jerry was sorely missed after mid-year graduation.

JIM MARINELLI—great defensive play plus a formidable scoring threat made Jim a standout basketball player.

JACK LEWIS—Jack and his swimming team buddy across the page were high point swimmers at the time of their January graduation.

GIBBY GRAY—ability, determination and constant practice made Gil one of the best distance runners the league has seen in many years.

BILL WHITACRE—Perhaps the most versatile Shaw athlete in many years, Bill shouldered great responsibility in several sports.

DICK FOLLETT—Dick was injured early in what was expected to be his best football season. As a junior he threw the discus almost 133 feet, a school record.
Shaw's baseball team, though it had much potential, failed to show the form so necessary for a championship rating. Almost half of the schedule was cancelled because of rain and cold weather. One outstanding performance, pitcher Jim Gunder's sparkling no-hit, no-run victory over Parma, saved the season from almost total failure since the team won only two other games; one from Wil- loughby, and another from Shaker. Derry Clay's average of .260 and Bill Whitacre's .233 were tops for team batting.
Shaw's cindermen finished third in Lake Erie League competition, just a few points behind the leader, Lakewood.

"Gibby" Gray, L.E.L. mile and half mile champion, Jay Hunton, champion 100 yard dasher and broadjumper, and Alex Michalos, champion high and low hurdler, composed the team nucleus for the season.

Dick Follet broke a long-standing Shaw record for the discus throw with a toss of 132 feet, 9 1/2 inches.

Coach Robert McGraw has high hopes for the next season's track squad, and is looking forward to next year.

Although Shaw’s cross-country team won only one meet last season, each contest was highlighted by a dazzling performance from “Gibby” Gray, who placed first in every match except the district and Lake Erie League finals. The Cards’ one victory came as the team swamped Painesville Harvey by capturing first, second, third, sixth, and seventh places.

cross-country

With four lettermen on the team, Shaw’s “racket-squad” battled its way through the ’53 fall season. Although they won just one match, from Parma, the boys enjoyed the thrill of matching their skill against that of other schools. Since each tennis season begins in the fall and finishes in the spring of the following year, it is difficult to rate the standings of the teams, but coach Jack Moore and his squad will be in there batting all the way.

important shoes. They belong to the underclassmen; the sophomores and the juniors. Shoes with purpose and a destination, they determine the standards and the ratings of Shaw High Students.

They are willing shoes, full of ideas and enthusiasm. They are the shoes that put the observe in the Observer, the rally in the rallies, and the pep in Pep Club. They are the friendship in Friendship Club and the service in the Service Club. They are a new generation of Emersons, DaVinci, and Mozarts; or perhaps Wally Coxes, Roger Prices and Julius La Rosas.

But these are growing shoes too. They meet something every day; they find in all that is new a challenge, something to master. These are good shoes, sturdy and aggressive shoes. They are today's shoes and tomorrow's shoes. Perhaps they belong to you.
